New Research Center Includes World's Largest Building Material Laboratory

Johns-Manville Announces First Project In $40,000,000 Expansion Program

THE architect's perspective above shows the new Johns-Manville Research Center now under construction near Bound Brook, New Jersey, in which greatly expanded and accelerated development work will be carried on in the fields of building materials, insulations and other products urgently needed to house the nation and increase efficiency of postwar industrial operations.

Construction of the Research Center, planned as a group of six buildings located on a 93-acre plot of land, is the first project in a company-wide expansion program in the United States, Canada and abroad which calls for the expenditure of $40,000,000 and which is hoped will provide 25 percent more jobs than were available in the company's most successful pre-war year, according to Lewis H. Brown, president of Johns-Manville Corporation.

Equipped for the most modern application of science to industry, the Johns-Manville Research Center will provide the largest research facilities in the world devoted to building materials and industrial products development. The first building, construction of which is now under way, will cost $2,000,000.

Stump Kills Man At Menlo Park

MENLO PARK—Crushed by a huge eucalyptus tree stump he was attempting to excavate preparatory to removing it from a building lot, Ygnacio Melendez, 55, Mountain View laborer, was killed in Menlo Park late Tuesday.

The laborer, police said, had apparently been smashed to death in the excavation as the huge stump rolled over on him, crushing his head and chest. When found, some time after the accident by his foreman, C. E. Martin of Menlo Park, Melendez lay clear of the trunk.

Officer Frank Roach, who investigated for Menlo Park police, said Melendez had been working alone in a vacant lot adjoining 922 Rose Ave. and must have become jammed against the excavation's side when the stump was dug partially free and rolled onto him. The stump, he said, apparently teetered back into a position free of the body. Melendez, whose home was at 680 Villa St., Mountain View, was an employee of Wells Goodenough, local building contractor.

Investigations were being completed by Layng and Tinney, to whose parlors the body was taken by Menlo Park police.

Light Up for Youthful Seeing

Did you fall asleep last night, half-way through your reading? Did the print seem to disappear right through the paper? Do not blame it all on the hard day you had at work or that you think you may be getting old. The chances are that the lighting was to blame!

This is a good time of the year to check on the lighting in your home. Get rid of blackened bulbs, root out and replace the small-sized bulbs that have been put into the lamps you read and work by. And when there are students doing homework at night, make certain they have the best of study light for concentrated eye work. Good light for study is so vital because—one of every FIVE children in grade schools suffers from impaired vision and TWO out of every FIVE college graduates have defective sight. Light up for youthful seeing as fall days darken into winter.

The Bell System—the largest source of Radar for our fighting forces

This is not surprising for Radar development and production stems from the same roots that produced and continue to nourish this country's telephone system.

Radar, the instrument which enabled our land, sea and air forces to spot enemy targets through darkness, smoke or fog, was one of the outstanding fighting instruments of the war.

Two years before Pearl Harbor the Government asked Bell Telephone Laboratories to put its wide experience and knowledge of electronics to work to help perfect Radar as a military instrument. From then on the Laboratories cooperated closely in the Radar program with the National Defense Research Committee, with Army and Navy specialists, and with scientists of Great Britain.

The Western Electric Company, manufacturing branch of the Bell System, became the Nation's largest supplier of Radar systems. One type it made was universally used by B-29's in the Pacific for navigation, target location and high altitude bombing. Another played an important part in aiming the guns on our warships.

If you're waiting for a home telephone, it helps a little to know that Radar is one of the reasons. For years telephone manufacturing plants were devoted to war needs.

One Drowns, 10 Hurt In S.M. County Over Holiday Weekend

One person was drowned and 10 persons were injured in a series of county accidents over the first peacetime holiday weekend since Pearl Harbor as America's death toll headed toward an all-time record.

Gene Meyer, 51, San Anselmo butcher, was taken out of a Pescadero reservoir shortly after 3 p.m. Sunday and was pronounced dead a few minutes later after artificial respiration failed to revive him, Dep. Coroner A. P. Dutra of Half Moon Bay reported.

According to Dutra, Mr. Meyer arrived at the Pescadero ranch of Mike Roberti at 11 a.m. with a party of San Anselmo friends, including Louise J. Betega, his brother, Adolph, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Poma.

After a noon dinner, Mr. Meyer and his friends went on a cross-country hike. Although persuaded by his friends not to go swimming in the reservoir, Mr. Meyer insisted. He had just neared the opposite shore, about 200 feet away, when his companions saw him sink under the water.

Thinking he was diving, they did not become alarmed when he failed to reappear until a few minutes later, they told Dutra.

Mr. Meyer was a partner with his brother, Adolph, in a San Anselmo butcher shop. An autopsy performed by Dr. John Ja Motte revealed that Mr. Meyer died from cramps and not from a heart attack. His body was taken to San Anselmo for funeral services.

Early today, Associated Press reported that 242 deaths have occurred throughout the nation since the beginning of the Labor Day weekend. Of this total, 134 fatalities were from automobile accidents, 36 from drownings and 72 from other causes.

The California Highway Patrol here reported four car accidents over the weekend with only one involving injuries.

At 2:20 p.m. Saturday, a car driven by Robert Creaven, 54, of 123 El Dorado, San Mateo, collided head-on with another machine driven by Robert S. Service, 40, of San Leandro. Creaven was cited for drunk driving involving injury and was booked at the county jail. Cash bail of $250 has been set.

The accident occurred on Bayshore Hwy., 180 feet south of Harbor Blvd., near Belmont. Injured were Service, his wife, Eleanor, 31, and their 7-year-old daughter, Carol Ann. All were taken to Community Hospital in San Mateo and treated for minor injuries. Also suffering from abrasions was Victor Johnson, 46, of 2306 Hacienda, San Mateo, a passenger in the Creaven machine, the CHP reported.

Redwood City police reported that three persons were injured in a three-car rear-end pile-up on

Lloyd Coldwell With S.F. YMCA

Resignation of Lloyd Coldwell, Sequoia district secretary for the Peninsula branch, YMCA, was announced Wednesday. Coldwell left the local position to accept the associate secretaryship of Park-Piedmont branch of the "Y" at San Francisco. Coldwell became secretary here in 1943.

Successor to Coldwell will be announced within a few days by V. M. Robertson, executive secretary of the Peninsula branch. Robertson is now in Southern California interviewing possible successors. It was learned the branch board of managers members will hold their initial meeting of the new term Tuesday, Sept. 18, to discuss year-round plans for club programs.

Three Jump To Safety At M.P.

MENLO PARK — Three sisters jumped from their stalled coupe to escape injury or death Tuesday just before a through train smashed the auto 25 feet along the right of way and onto an adjoining track. The accident was at Grove Ave. crossing. Poydine C. Brown, crossing watchman, said he was attempting to flag Mrs. I. E. Redding, the driver, on across the track because the train was approaching.

Mrs. Redding, started when she noticed the train's approach, apparently stalled the machine on the crossing. She and her sisters, Mrs. Harry Dowdy and Miss Susan Gale, jumped to safety only seconds before the impact. The sisters are the daughters of Mrs. A. W. Gale of 417 Glenwood Ave.

Robert A. Watson Aboard SS Richard

Robert A. Watson, machinist's mate, third class, is aboard the SS Bon Homage, Admiral Halsey's Third Fleet, the navy said today. The Richard is an aircraft carrier and aided the armada of 150 fighting ships that blasted Japan into submission.

El Camino Real and Jefferson

A car driven by Jack H. Reiserer, 22, of 127 Franklin St. and another machine driven by Milton E. Harris, 38, of 926 Hull St., San Carlos, collided in a rear-end crash, police said.

Another car driven by Steve Goggiano, 50, of San Francisco, smashed into the rear of the Reiserer machine. Injured were Mrs. Frank Accornaro, 31, of San Francisco, and her 5-year-old son, Gilbert, passengers in the Goggiano car, as was Goggiano. All were taken to Palo Alto Hospital for emergency treatment, police said.

A 12-year-old San Carlos boy received severe lacerations when his bicycle collided with a machine at Rindel St. and San Carlos Ave. Sunday at 12:30 p.m., police there reported.

The youth, Theodore Hone, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fremont Hone of Cranfield Rd., was riding on San Carlos Ave., having just dodged another machine, when his bicycle crashed into a car driven by Ellsworth Van Buren, 45, San Carlos Ave.

He was taken to Mills Memorial Hospital where stitches were taken in the lower portion of his back, police said. The boy was later released and will be confined to his bed for at least a week.

Redwood City firemen answered an alarm at 4:38 a.m. Sunday at 2028 Roosevelt Ave., where a day bed was on fire. The bed was damaged beyond repair, firemen said.

The County Forest Service extinguished three fires over the weekend and reported that at least one at Highland and Jefferson Aves. was definitely set.

The blaze was reported at 5:14 p.m. Sunday. Firemen said one was extinguished at the same spot 24 hours before and on Aug. 24, five acres of grass burned in the same area. The two other minor grass blazes were at Alameda de las Pulgas and Grandland Ave., Saturday at 4:08 p.m. and Sunday night on Whipple St., near the Hassler Health Home.

Woodside firemen answered three alarms over the weekend. A garage at Woodside Glen was reported on fire Saturday night but it was a false alarm, firemen said. A row of ornamental poplar trees at the entrance to the W. W. Mein property off Canada Rd. were scorched by flames at 3:43 p.m. Saturday.

After a half-hour of fire fighting, the Woodside Fire Department extinguished an acre grass blaze at Canada Rd. and Godetia Dr. yesterday afternoon. No damage was caused.

Chief Collins Outpaces Suspect

A 19-year-old sailor was charged with misdemeanor count of taking an auto without the owner's permission after he and a companion were arrested shortly before midnight Wednesday, following an auto and foot-race won by Police Chief C. L. Collins.

Arthur Edward Rodarte, 19, Coast-guardman stationed at San Francisco, was charged with the misdemeanor by J. D. Van Scyoc, local taxi owner. His companion, Joseph F. Maranto, 21, U. S. Marine stationed at Port of Redwood, was not charged.

The youths were captured by Chief Collins near the postoffice after a wild ride up Main St. and along Broadway. No damage was done the taxi, Van Scyoc said. The youths, police reported, apparently stepped into the car as the driver left it to enter a tavern at 1328 El Camino in response to a call. Four minutes after police radio broadcast the car's disappearance, Chief Collins sighted the machine on Main St. and gave chase.

Lomita Park Course To Close

The El Camino Golf Course in Lomita Park will close on Sept. 16, and a portion of its course will be used as a site for a new high school building.

In San Mateo County Superior Court last week, Judge Maxwell McNutt issued a decree of condemnation which incorporated an out of court agreement reached by owners of the golf course and the San Mateo Union High School District.

Under the terms of the agreement which ends a year-long litigation, the high school district secures 22.5 acres of the country club's total 86 acres for $40,770, which, according to the court, includes severance damages.

This amount is considerably higher than the $1250 to $1350 per acre appraisal placed on the property prior to the litigation.

With a little practice, a man can husk three or four times as much corn from the standing stalks as he can of shucked corn.

Ambulance Service May Stop

Redwood City's emergency ambulance service will be stopped immediately unless the city council resumes a subsidy program to defray part of the cost of the service, R. H. Ratliff informed councilmen Tuesday night in a blunt, brief speech.

Mayor W. W. Hilton appointed Councilmen Harold F. Anderson, George McNulty and Evans A. Fletcher, with Fletcher as chairman, to meet with Dr. Charles C. Gans and iron out the county ambulance difficulties with special reference to Redwood City after hearing Ratliff's statements.

"Former City Mgr. Robert Mead told me that no provision for this subsidy had been made in the 1945-46 budget. The ambulance business is not a profitable one and the refusal of the county to allow private ambulances to pick up patients when the Community Hospital ambulances are available has put an added blight on my company," Ratliff charged.

"The county will pay only our ambulance bills when they have authorized the sending of our machines, even though we may be closer to the accident," Ratliff said. "We can't operate a service on odds and ends of calls. Even when the police department authorizes the service, the county won't pay the bills," the ambulance owner stated.

"When I took over the ambulance service in December, 1944, we had a working agreement with Mead, representing the council, for two ambulances on 24-hour-a-day emergency call," Ratliff explained. Redwood City subsidized the company $75 a month.

"In the March San Carlos navy plane crash, we had three pieces of equipment on the scene 10 minutes after we were notified. We weren't paid a dime. We have taken 25 service men to Dibble General Hospital and have never been paid," Ratliff pointed out. "In the latter instance, we did not expect payment but you can't operate a business successfully when you don't get paid."

"Community Hospital will have its ears knocked down if they won't accept patients," Councilman Fletcher flared when informed that such a practice had continued for some time.

Police Chief C. L. Collins then told how a man's leg was saved because the Peninsula Ambulance Service (operated by Ratliff) was able to get the man to the Palo Alto Hospital in time from a train accident here in Redwood City.

Councilman Floyd D. Granger said that the ambulance service subsidy was not put in the budget for a definite reason and that was that Redwood City had been assured of adequate service from the county. "If we're not getting such service, we should know about it now," Granger stated.

The council also last night: 1. Discussed at length the granting of a sign permit to Ross Chamberlain indicating the new Redwood City industrial area he is promoting on Bayshore Hwy. and Chestnut St. Despite flare-ups from Councilmen Carl Britschgi and C. C. Armstrong, the council agreed to the sign providing the advertisement of the new industrial area is in the largest type.

A. Miller McDougal, associated with Chamberlain, told the council that ground for one new industry would be broken next week in that area and that a total of 14 industries are being planned at present. Approximately 150 Redwood City men are working in the Chamberlain development projects, McDougal said.

2. Acted on the suggestion of McDougal that a sign be placed on Bayshore Hwy. advertising the fact that Redwood City has a deep water harbor.

3. Approved the sale of 70 parcels of city-owned property from delinquent taxes with bids accepted after Sept. 28.

4. Approved the sale of the old city library property for $27,500 to Albert Ichelson and W. E. Ayer for occupancy Feb. 28, 1946.

5. Placed on the agenda for the next meeting a study suggested by Councilman Granger that the city clerk be made directly responsible to the council and not to the city manager.

6. Agreed to notify persons having city abatement proceedings filed against their property (Rice, Hollenbaugh, Hanta, Buhler, Roberts, Eckerle and Klang) that they must appear before the council Oct. 1 and give reasons why abatement proceedings should not be carried forth.

7. Passed notice of intention to approve a resolution to rezone several blocks near the Grover Allspaugh property at Pine and Lathrop Sts. from business to light industry so that Allspaugh can construct a laundry on his property.

8. Moved that Fire Chief Mark E. Ryan be instructed to collect all civilian defense equipment he possibly can to return to federal government.

9. Expressed satisfaction with Chief Ryan's report that the removal of "war paint" from city's street lights cost $100 under the first estimated cost of the job.

10. Approved request of Thomas Vernal on behalf of the American Legion Post 108 that a bench for Dibble soldiers be constructed opposite the Greyhound bus depot here subject to the supervision of the building inspector and providing the Redwood Ice Delivery has no objections.

Kidnap Charges May Be Filed Against Would-Be Foster Mother

Kidnap charges, under the federal Lindbergh law, if necessary, will be brought against Mrs. Ida Meri, 26, of San Bruno, unless she returns the year-old son of Miss Helene Rossing of Millbrae to the mother.

This was the announcement of Atty. Joseph J. O'Malley Wednesday after Superior Judge Andrew R. Schottky refused to grant O'Malley's contention Theodore Meri, husband of the San Bruno woman, whose adoption attempt was denied last month by Judge Schottky, should be held on contempt charges today. O'Malley asked an order to show cause why husband and wife should not be held in contempt for failing to obey the order for return of the infant to his natural mother which Judge Maxwell McNutt issued recently.

O'Malley said he would ask a district attorney's warrant, grand jury indictment, or—if Mrs. Meri and the child are outside of the state—federal action on kidnap charges, to secure the child's return to Miss Rossing. The baby, named William Howard Johnson by Miss Rossing after his birth at Mills Hospital last Sept. 9, was renamed Roger Randolph Meri by his would-be foster parents. Motion for a new trial on adoption proceedings has been set before Judge Schottky for Sept. 17.

Kidnap proceedings, O'Malley said, would not be filed if his client can locate Mrs. Meri and the child within a reasonable time. Meri, who appeared at court today but was not called, indicated he knew where his wife and the child might be, but said vaguely only that they "might be on vacation, or maybe on their way to Chicago."

This Poor Rooster Doesn't Know Commotion He Caused

This is a tale about a rooster and an 18-year-old sailor who has been in the South Pacific for a year. City councilmen were confronted with the story Tuesday night by Atty. James A. Toner of San Francisco representing Julius Mariani, 104 Inner Circle, Redwood City.

Seems that Mariani's son left for navy duty overseas a year ago entrusting the care of his 4-month-old pet rooster to his father until his return. No one complained about the rooster's lousy crows until several weeks ago when an irate neighbor swore out a warrant protesting the rooster was a nuisance.

Mariani appeared before Police Judge Edward I. McAuliffe for a hearing and told the judge his emotional story. McAuliffe listened at length and then asked Mariani to confront the city council with the tale.

After a half-hour discussion, councilmen decided they could not dictate the law to Judge McAuliffe despite the presentation of a petition signed by 12 of Mariani's neighbors that the rooster wasn't a nuisance. Individually, the members of the council expressed the desire for a continuance of the nuisance protest for at least 60 days or until the sailor comes home to claim his pet.

So back the case goes to Judge McAuliffe who will be advised of

K. L. Bowen Seeks Job As Manager

Formal application of Lt. Kenneth L. Bowen for the post of city manager was received here Tuesday afternoon, Mayor W. W. Hilton announced.

Bowen, whose name has been mentioned for the position, disclosed his intentions in a letter written from the USS Talladega from somewhere in the Pacific where he has been serving with the navy for the past year.

His application brings the number of aspirants to the position to eight men. Mayor Hilton disclosed only the names of Lt. Comdr. C. R. (Clem) Baume and Cecil Longson have been made public from the list, however, Mayor Hilton explained. Other applicants have asked their names not be publicized at present.

Among the applicants, six are from men with city managership experience, the mayor said.

Several Bay Area city managers have indicated interest in the job, he added.

Bowen, who was graduated from Stanford University in 1931 moved to Redwood City in November, 1934, and served as editor of the Tribune until his entry into the navy in 1942. He is now on military leave from the Tribune.

For his work as beachmaster during the assault and capture of Iwo Jima, he was awarded a citation by Adm. R. A. Spruance, commander of the navy's Fifth Fleet.

Active in civic affairs, Bowen served as director of the Redwood City Chamber of Commerce, trustee of the First Methodist Church, Redwood City War Savings Committee, and is a past president of the Exchange Club.

His application to Mayor Hilton was simultaneous with personal letters to each of the councilmen.

Baume, an Annapolis graduate, filed his application with the mayor a month ago. He was recalled to active duty with the navy in May, 1943, and has been active in civic affairs.

Longson is superintendent of public works and purchasing agent for Burlingame.

John Forrest Carroll, Woodside engineer who is in charge of inspection, contract section, of the public works department at the Hunter's Point navy drydock, has not filed a formal application, Hilton said, although he has announced his interest in the job in a public letter.

80 Attend Cities' Meet

About 80 officials from Peninsula cities met at Palo Alto Community Center Wednesday for a one-day regional conference of the League of California Cities, to consider ways and means of financing local postwar public works. The group discussed methods that can be used of increasing municipal revenues to meet post-war needs without raising the proposed tax burden.

Redwood City was represented by George McNulty, councilman; Ralph S. Dodge, city clerk; Paul A. McCarthy, city attorney.

Child Care Center Closes Sept. 22

Redwood City's Child Care Center at McKinley School, which daily supervises 125 children from 2-14 years old will be discontinued Sept. 22, Andrew Spinas, superintendent of the Redwood City Elementary Schools, has informed the working mothers of the children.

The center, organized in June, 1943, under Federal Lanham Act funds for children of war-working mothers, has been ordered closed by the Federal Works Agency because of an insufficiency of funds, Spinas said Tuesday.

"The money appropriated by the Lanham Act has not been exhausted," Lucille Leale, secretary of the parents of the Child Care Center children reported.

"Because the emergency did not end with the end of the war, we mothers are trying to find ways to have those already appropriated funds released for the center's use. We are asking the government not to put up for sale the buildings that it has maintained for this purpose," Mrs. Leale stated.

Particular emphasis was laid today on the fact that nearly half of the working mothers who leave their children at the center are wives of service men still overseas.

"The war is not over for them and we must continue working until they return," the mothers' group said.

Parents held a special meeting Wednesday night at 8 o'clock at the Child Care Center to discuss the emergency situation which has been forced by government decision not to continue granting appropriations for child centers.

A staff of 20 trained teachers is maintained at the center, plus a registered nurse and two cooks. Mothers pay 75 cents a day for the supervision which includes fruit juice and wheat toast in the mid-morning, a hot dinner at noon and milk and sandwiches in the mid-afternoon. Mothers may pay an additional 15 cents a day for breakfasts. Children are brought to the center at 6:45 a.m. and return to their homes at 6 p.m.

Spinas said that all he knows about the closing is that he received a letter from the Federal Works Agency saying that no more funds were available and that the center would have to shut down. The superintendent explained he would meet with the mothers soon but that no alternative has been presented to the closing edict as yet.

"Because of the number of families involved and the nature of the problem, we feel this is a community problem and would welcome help from all organizations," Mrs. Leale said.

On Aug. 30, the mothers held a meeting to attempt effect a means of continuing the Lanham Act appropriations for the care of children in Redwood City and also to endeavor to have a permanent center established in conjunction with the schools to care for children of pre-school age.

Each parent was asked to write letters to Sens. William F. Knowland and Sheridan Downey and Congressman Jack Anderson requesting the officials to act on this matter to see that the Lanham Act buildings are not put up for sale and urging that the centers be maintained by the federal government.

Spinas was largely instrumental in initiating the drive for Lanham Act funds when the center here was first suggested in the Spring of 1943. At that time agitation for a child care center came alike from labor leaders and mothers of children who were forced to work in war plants because their husbands were in the service.

Joseph Brochiero Gets Army Discharge Papers

Joseph E. Brochiero has received his honorable discharge from the army, it was announced today. He has been in the military service for three years as a radio-operator and gunner, winning the Air Medal and five Oak Leaf Clusters, Presidential Unit Citation, Aerial Gunner's and Air Crew Badges, and three battle stars for his European-Mediterranean battle ribbons.

The Sequoia High School graduate is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Brochiero of 997 Catherine St.

County 'Gambling' Report Ready Soon

Reports on San Mateo County's "All county authorities who have reported state there has been no breakdown of law enforcement," Kenny declared.

Neither McGrath nor Ferrell has made public the tenor of their reports, which are expected to be forwarded in the near future.

Ticer Writes About 'Hump' Experiences

Exciting details of the parachute jump which 2nd Lt. Philip F. Ticer was forced to make over the "Hump" from his B-24 Liberator bomber, were given today by his mother, Mrs. Glenn H. Ticer, 731 Edgewood Rd. The crew jumped to safety during a mission from India to China.

Lieutenant Ticer was at first reported "missing" when he and his crew abandoned the bomber, July 23. All crew members, except the radio operator, "chuted to safety" and returned to their Assam Valley base in India within a few days.

Lieutenant Ticer's letters to his mother, describing the operational flight and their abandonment of the bomber at a 30,000-foot altitude after radio equipment "conked out," revealed that Radio Operator Hawbecker had been killed, apparently when he fell from the plane.

Lack of oxygen put Hawbecker unconscious, since his airsickness as the bomber fought heavy weather prevented him from using his oxygen mask as regulations prescribed. Hawbecker and Engineer Kless, Ticer wrote, had been seated near open bomb bay doors until the former apparently fell from the plane. A few minutes later the crew jumped, from a height of 26,000 feet.

Landing near a Chinese farmer's hut, Ticer secured a sedan chair to carry his meager belongings to a nearby village and reached Hsueh Yang the following day, July 24.

His only injury was a broken nose, suffered as he landed. There he learned other crew members had been saved. Most seriously injured was the plane's navigator, McInerney, who suffered a fractured kneecap, broken upper jaw.

S.M. Airport To Start Soon

SAN MATEO—In the face of the county's refusal to provide monetary aid and diffidence in shouldering a drainage problem, the much discussed $5,000,000, 1500-plane Bay Meadows Airport will be under construction as soon as priorities permit, claims William P. Kyne, California Jockey Club manager.

Sarah Rapaele, born in 1865 in New York, was the "first born Christian daughter" in the colony.

Seven R.C. Yachting Enthusiasts Narrowly Escape Injury When Their 40-Foot Ketch Crashes Into S.M. Bridge

Adrift among six-foot-high waves which lashed San Francisco Bay Saturday night, seven local yachting enthusiasts narrowly escaped serious injury when their 40-foot ketch crashed into San Mateo-Hayward bridge piers, and was almost capsized as wind and waves forced the tall-masted craft on its side.

Mainsail blown away, the ketch "Pathfinder" finally righted itself and wallowed in the heavy seas for more than an hour after both masts snapped from continued pounding against the bridge. Stan Schoof, sailing master of the ketch, captained the seven-person crew which included Dickie Greene, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Greene of Redwood City; Mr. and Mrs. Rene Gaspar of San Carlos and their sons, Rene, 16, and Bobby, 14; and Mrs. Don Zinke, wife of the ketch's owner.

The accident came as the Pathfinder was towing the sloop "Wayfarer" to San Mateo Saturday evening, for planned entry in Sunday's annual race from Coyote Point to Belvedere.

Gusty winds, Schoof said, blew the mainsail loose, to start the two-hour battle against capsizing. The boat's auxiliary motor refused to start, and the boat drifted against the highway bridge. Height of the masts prevented the ketch from sailing with the wind under the bridge, and for a time the wind pressure canted the small craft almost on its beam ends. Dickie Greene, Schoof said, rushed into the ketch's cabin and secured life preservers for his companions, while the rest of the crew bailed anxiously. When the masts snapped after continued pounding, the craft righted itself and drifted between bridge piers. They were forced to cut adrift the unmanned Wayfarer, Schoof said. Both boats were rescued by a coast guard cutter almost an hour later, and towed to Redwood City Yacht Harbor.

Three other Redwood City craft, which did sail yesterday's race for the Gus Barth trophy, were among the 11 entries. Capt. E. D. Mervey's "Kittiwake" bird boat, placed third with a sail of 3 hours, 28 minutes. His boat was an Aeolian Yacht Club entry. H. C. (Army) Armitage and Frank Rudd sailed their "Briny Marlin" sloop for last place honors, while Walter Blick of Redwood City made seventh place with his Bear Class "La Rosita." First place winner was Jack DeMandell of Aeolian Yacht Club with his "Ace," with a time of 2 hours, 49 minutes.

Labor News

San Mateo Labor Council seated three new members from the Construction and General Laborers Local 389 last week, Thomas Campbell, Ralph Mort and Angelo Delacasa, it was announced. Three more members were seated from the Bartenders and Culinary Workers Local 340. They are John B. Baum, Gerry F. Morrison and T. A. Small, who is also designated to represent the council on the State AFL.

T. A. Small was appointed to represent the council on the Eighth Congressional District veterans' committee, established at the recommendation of Congressman Jack Anderson.

It was reported to the council that veterans' rehabilitation through the Federal Security Office can be made for disabled veterans whose loss of limb prevents them from holding their previous jobs. New trades are taught veterans.

No word has yet been received from Sheriff J. C. McGrath, but Dist. Atty. Gilbert D. Ferrell had expressed his intention to accept the council's invitation to speak before it concerning the grand jury investigation now under way.

WPB Salvage Division Ends Sept. 30; Industry Must Aid

Frank A. DePatta, city salvage chairman since early in 1942, announced Wednesday that the War Production Board Salvage Division has been discontinued as of Sept. 30.

DePatta explained that the termination of the salvage organization did not mean that the need for waste paper or tin has ended.

"It does mean," said the WPB bulletin, "that these needs from here on must be supplied and cared for by industry itself."

"In line with helping industry to reconvert rather than to have the government do it for them, it will be our job and the job of salvage committees during the next month to assist industry in every way possible to take over the collection of waste paper. Salvage committee responsibility for tin can collections will end as of Sept. 30."

Frederick A. Sarg Jr., thrice-wed San Mateo pet shop owner, Wednesday took out a license to marry Alvin M. Heater, Burlingame grocery clerk.

M.P. Residents Injured in Crash

PALO ALTO—Two Menlo Park residents were injured Monday evening on El Camino Real at Pasadenia Ave., Sunnyvale, when a sedan in which three Mexican youths were riding collided with their car and knocked it from the road.

Victims were Mrs. Edward Hoffacker Jr. and her mother, Mrs. William Huerlin, both of 643 Middle Ave., Menlo Park. At Palo Alto Hospital it was found that Mrs. Hoffacker had suffered eye and knee injuries, and Mrs. Huerlin a broken ankle. Mrs. Hoffacker's 24-year-old son, Edward, escaped injury, as did Mr. Huerlin, driver of the car.
